[1] Duley, S. (2020). Identifying Autism Spectrum Disorder In A Clinical Sample Of Preschool-aged Children Using The BASC-3 Parent Rating Scales. [Doctoral Dissertation, University of Texas].

[2] Hanratty, J., Livingstone, N., Robalino, S., Terwee, C. B., Glod, M., Oono, I. P., Rodgers, J., Macdonald, G., & McConachie, H. (2015). Systematic Review of the Measurement Properties of Tools Used to Measure Behaviour Problems in Young Children with Autism. PloS One, 10(12), e0144649. https://doi.org/10.1371/journal.pone.0144649

[3] Mahan, S., & Matson, J. L. (2011). Children and adolescents with autism spectrum disorders compared to typically developing controls on the Behavioral Assessment System for Children, Second Edition (BASC-2). Research in Autism Spectrum Disorders, 5(1), 119–125. https://doi.org/10.1016/j.rasd.2010.02.007

[4] Reynolds, C. R., & Kamphaus, R. (2015). Behavior Assessment System for Children (BASC) (3rd ed.). Pearson Clinical Assessment.

[5] Tan, A. T. S., Kraska, J., Bell, K., & Costello, S. (2021). Confirmatory factor analyses of the Behavior Assessment System for Children - Third Edition among an Australian sample. The Educational and Developmental Psychologist, 38(1), 131–142. https://doi.org/10.1080/20590776.2021.190718

[6] Benson, N. F., Lockwood, A., Gilbert, K., & Calvin, B. (2026, February 10). Inside the BASC-3 TRS: What Multidimensional IRT Reveals. Retrieved from osf.io/preprints/psyarxiv/jpsa2_v1